Subject one

Part One: Reading (15points)

Read the text carefully and do the activities.

We see successful businesses suffer a downfall and famous names in the business world lose their reputation. One of the main reason behind these surprising failures is the lack of business ethics.

The key towards success as some managers argue is to implement the 'business is business' principle which excludes moral values. However, many others believe that success is linked essentially to ethical standards. For them, a business that makes of money its main objective at the expense of ethics would never make advance. When bosses start their projects basing on ethical strategies, they can run successfully for long. For instance, a business man who deals honestly with consumers leave positive impression on their minds. Moneymakers who ignore ethical values may earn success but it is only short-lived.

Ethics in business are not limited to the owners of companies; rather, employees are also meant to keep their honesty. It is their duty not to cheat or use company resources for personal benefits. A careful and thoughtful utilization of company resources is an essential component for the stability of businesses.
