Exam of English – 1st term

M'hamed ISSIAKHEM.

M'hamedIssiakhem is a famous Algerian painterwho was born on 17 June, 1928 in Taboudoucht, a small village in TiziOuzou. He is considered as the founder of modern Algerian painting.

In 1931, his family moved to Rilizane where he spent most of his childhood. At the age of 16, he lost his left arm because he handled a stolen grenade, from a military camp, which exploded. This tragic accident didn't prevent him of studying Art at the School of fine Arts of Algiers. In 1953, he moved to France to attend the "Ecole des beaux-Arts de Paris". Then, he left France to East Germany.

After the Algerian independence, Issiakhem returned to Algeria and was one of the founding members of the National Union of Plastic Arts. He also created models of the Algerian bank notes as well as many Algerian stamps. One of his famous paintings is "Maternité". He received a Gold medal at the International Fair of Algiers. He also received the first Golden Lion of Rome, of the UNESCO for African Art. He died on 1 December, 1985 following a long illness.
