

LEVEL ONE

Learn In Your Car – Italian is the only language learning system designed to teach a foreign language in your car as you drive, without the aid of a textbook. However, for your reference, this booklet contains the entire recorded text so that you can see how the words are spelled. This booklet also contains additional explanations which will be helpful to you if you have trouble understanding some of the concepts in the program.

ABOUT THIS COURSE

Learn In Your Car – Italian is designed and organized with the traveler in mind. The following guidelines are used:
1. The basic premise is that communicating in a language requires learning words, phrases and sentences: but you can't learn to communicate effectively in a language unless you know the individual meaning of each word.
2. The emphasis is on communication. Words, phrases or sentences can be used to communicate. It is not always necessary to use a complete sentence to convey a thought.
3. It teaches the way a child learns. Children start by learning one-word sentences, then two-word sentences, etc.
4. It teaches the most important things first. This course does not use your valuable memory to store useless words. The important words you need to survive and get around are taught first. Grammar is introduced in the later lessons, but it is taught with examples rather than rules.

5. No more than one new word is introduced at a time. This means you won't hear a sentence or a phrase and wonder which sound corresponds to which word.
6. No textbook is required. The fact that no more than one new word is introduced at a time enables you to use the CDs effectively without referring to a textbook. The CDs are designed to be used without a textbook so that you can use them while driving a car or while doing other things that require similar amounts of concentration.
7. Literal (word-for-word) translations are used as much as possible. This enables you to understand how a sentence or phrase is constructed and what the individual words mean.

HOW TO USE "LEARN IN YOUR CAR – ITALIAN"

The first track on the first disk is an introduction. Lessons start on the following track.

Start by playing through Lesson One. For each expression you will hear the English version followed by a pause, then the Italian translation followed by a pause, then the Italian translation a second time followed by a third pause. At first, you will only be able to imitate the Italian words in the two pauses after the Italain translations (the second and third pauses). As you learn and progress, you will be able to recall and recite the Italian version during the first pause before you hear the first Italian translation. Be sure to speak the Italian expressions out loud. The rate at which you learn will be significantly slower if you do not speak the expressions aloud.

Play Lesson One several times until you learn most of it. Then start playing Lesson One followed by Lesson Two until you learn most of Lesson Two. As you progress, keep adding lessons. Always go back to the beginning of Lesson One to reinforce the material you have already learned. (As you progress through the material, you may want to restart at some place other than the start of Lesson One. This is fine as long as you know all the material ahead of your starting point. Later lessons are designed with the assumption that you already know the material in earlier lessons.)

NOTES ABOUT THE TEXT

• Words that are underlined in phrases in the text have the same meaning in both English and Italian. When a new word is introduced, it will usually be underlined.
• Literal translations are in brackets with an "L." such as: [L. This is a literal translation.]
• Words in brackets [like this] are understood, but are not heard on the recording.

NOTES ABOUT THE CDs

• The disc and track numbers for each lesson are listed in the Table of Contents.

LESSON 1 – LEZIONE 1
BASICS – ELEMENTI BASILARI

I	io
you (familiar)	tu
you (polite)	Lei
he	lui
she	lei
this	questo [masc.] / questa [fem.]
We	noi
you (plural, as in “you guys” or “you people”)	voi
they	loro
good morning / good day	buon giorno
good evening	buona sera
good night	buona notte
good-bye	arrivederci
hello / good-bye	ciao
please	per favore / per piacere
thank you	grazie
you’re welcome / please	prego
yes	sì

no . . . . . no
good . . . . . buono bad . . . . . cattivo sir / Mr. . . . . signore / signor madam / Mrs. . . . . signora
miss . . . . . signorina

"tu" = familiar "you" singular, used in casual conversation.
"Lei" = polite "you" used with strangers or to be polite.
"voi" = familiar and polite "you" plural as in "you guys" or "you all." This form is used as a plural for both "tu" and "Lei."
"Lei" (polite "you") is often capitalized to distinguish it from "lei" (she), but it is not necessary.
The pronoun "Loro" (capitalized) is also used as a very formal "you" plural, however this usage is very rare in modern Italian.
The subject pronoun "it" is almost never used in Italian. Instead, a sentence will simply start with a verb.
The subject pronoun "it" is implied by the form (conjugation) of the verb that is used along with the context of the rest of the sentence.

LESSON 2 – LEZIONE 2
BASIC PHRASES – LOCUZIONI DI BASE

I want... . . . . Io voglio...

I don't want.	Io non voglio.
Where?	Dove?
Where is? / Where is it?	Dov'è?
Where is the toilet? / Where is the bathroom?	Dov'è il bagno?
How much?	Quanto?
How much does it cost? [L. How much costs?]	Quanto costa?
time / hour	ora
…what time? / …which hour?	…che ora?
At what time?	A che ora?
You have (polite)	Lei ha…
Do you have…? [L. Have [you]…?] (polite)	Ha…?
I understand.	Io capisco.
I don't understand.	Io non capisco.
Do you understand? (polite)	Lei capisce?
It is…	É…
Is it…?	É…?

Subject pronouns (io, tu, lui, lei, Lei, noi, voi, loro, Loro) generally are not required to be used in sentences. This is because the subject pronoun can be determined by simply observing which form or conjugation of the verb is used. (i.e. The verb will change depending on which subject pronoun is being referred to.)

LESSON 3 – LEZIONE 3
TRANSPORTATION NOUNS – MEZZI DI TRASPORTO

train	treno
a train	un treno
the train	il treno
the trains	i treni

a bus	un autobus
the bus stop [L. the stop of the bus]	la fermata dell'autobus
a bus stop	una fermata dell'autobus
a ticket	un biglietto

the ticket	il biglietto
the ticket window / the ticket office	la biglietteria
an airport	un aeroporto
the airport	l'aeroporto
the flight	il volo
a connection	una coincidenza
the connection	la coincidenza
the connections	le coincidenze
the gate	l'uscita
the railway	la ferrovia
the station	la stazione
the railway station	la stazione ferroviaria
the bus terminal [L. the terminal of the bus]	il capolinea dell'autobus
the platform	il marciapiede
Which platform?	Quale marciapiede?
Which track?	Quale binario?
Which train car?	Quale carrozza?

In Italian, all nouns have a gender. That is, they are considered masculine or feminine. In English, the articles "the", "a", or "an" help specify nouns. The Italian equivalents of these articles have genders which must agree with the genders of the nouns they help specify. In this lesson the articles "il" and "un" as well as “lo” and “uno” are used with masculine nouns and the articles “la” and “una” are used with feminine nouns. Articles must also agree in number (singular or plural) with their nouns. The plural of “il” is “i”, the plural of “lo” is “gli” and the plural of “la” is “le”.

“lo” (masculine) is used before masculine nouns beginning with “z”, or “s + consonant”. “lo” changes into “l’ ” before masculine nouns beginning with vowels. The plural of “lo” and “l’ ” is “gli”.

“il” (masculine) is used with all other masculine nouns.

“la” (feminine) changes to “l’ ” before feminine nouns beginning with vowels. The plural of “la” and “l’ ” is “le”.

“uno” (masculine) is used before masculine nouns beginning with “z” or “s + consonant.” “uno” becomes “un” (without apostrophe) before masculine nouns beginning with vowels.

“un” (masculine) is used for all other masculine nouns.

“una” (feminine) changes to “un” before feminine nouns beginning with vowels.

“dell’autobus” = “di” + “l’ ” = “of the bus”

	Singular		Plural
	Masculine	Feminine	Masculine	Feminine
the	il, lo	la	i, gli	le
“a” or “an”	un, uno	una	-	-

LESSON 4 – LEZIONE 4
TRANSPORTATION PHRASES – FRASI NEI TRASPORTI

Where is the train station? . . . . . Dov’è la stazione ferroviaria?
to the train station, please . . . . . alla stazione ferroviaria, per favore

At what time does the train leave?	A che ora parte il treno?
At what time does the train arrive?	A che ora arriva il treno?
Where is the bus to Milan?	Dov'è l'autobus per Milano?
Which number?	Quale numero?
Which seat?	Quale posto?
seat number five	Posto numero cinque
a timetable / a schedule	un orario
the first train	il primo treno
the second train	il secondo treno
the next train	il prossimo treno
the last train	l'ultimo treno

"alla" = "a" + "la"
"all'aeroporto" = "a" + "lo" + "aeroporto"

In Italian, the use of subject pronouns (I, you, he, she, it, we, you guys, they) is optional. This is because the subject pronoun can be detemined by which conjugation of the verb is used. In the examples above, since “vorrei” can only be used with “io” (“io” = “I”), it is not necessary to say “Io vorrei...” because “io” is understood.

“Vorrei” in English means “I would like.” The literal translation is “I would want.” “Vorrei” is much more polite and should be used instead of “vóglio” whenever possible.

LESSON 5 – LEZIONE 5
MONEY – DENARO / SOLDI

the money	il denaro / i soldi
European money	euro

I would like something less expensive.	Vorrei qualcosa di meno caro.
I'm looking for…	Cerco…
No, not like that.	No, non così.
Thank you, sir.	Grazie, signore.

In Italian, adjectives must agree with the word they modify in both gender (masculine or feminine) and number (singular or plural). For example, "piccolo" would become "piccola" if it were modifying a feminine noun. It would become "piccoli" or "piccole" (depending on gender) if it were modifying a plural noun.

The demonstrative pronouns shown above (this, that, these, those) are shown in their masculine forms. When these words are used to describe feminine objects, then the appropriate feminine pronoun must be used:

	Masculine	Feminine
this	questo	questa
that	quello	quella
these	questi	queste
those	quelli	quelle

Remember, adjectives must agree in number (singular or plural) and gender (masculine or feminine) with the nouns they modify. The feminine forms of the adjectives are shown in parentheses. In general, adjectives which end in “o” or “a” end in the following letters:

	Singular	Plural
Masculine	-o	-i
Feminine	-a	-e

The endings of adjectives which end in “e” generally follow this format:

	Singular	Plural
Masculine	-e	-i
Feminine	-e	-i

Adverbs do not agree with the words they modify. (Adverbs usually modify verbs or adjectives or another adverb.)

LESSON 21 – LEZIONE 21
VERBS – VERBI

to mean / to want to say . . . . . voler dire to repeat . . . . . ripetere

These are the infinitive forms of these verbs (i.e. to be, to go, to see, etc.). To speak correctly you need to use the correct form (conjugation) of the verb. If you don’t know the correct conjugation, use the infinitive. You will most likely be understood.

In most smaller dictionaries, only the infinitive form of a verb is listed. (In English, the infinitive form is listed without the "to.") For example, in a small English dictionary, you would find "eat," but most likely wouldn't find "ate," "eaten," "eats," etc.

LESSON 22 – LEZIONE 22
PREPOSITIONS – PREPOSIZIONI

to / at	a

their car . . . . . la loro macchina your car (plural) . . . . . la vostra macchina my father . . . . . mio padre
my mother . . . . . mia madre

In Italian, possessive adjectives agree in gender (masculine or feminine) and number (singular or plural) with the object possessed, not the gender of the possessor, as is the case in English.

As you can see by these examples, the definite article ("la", "il", "i", "le") is part of the possessive adjective except when talking about relatives. (Exceptions: plural nouns; modified nouns; the nouns "mamma" and "papà"; and the pronoun "loro" always use an article).

LESSON 25 – LEZIONE 25
CONJUNCTIONS AND SIMILAR WORDS – CONGIUNZIONI E PAROLE SIMILI

and . . . . . e

The verb “to be” (essere) and the verb “to have” (avere) (next lesson) are the two most commonly used verbs in Italian. It is important to learn these two verbs well.

Subject pronouns (“io”, “tu”, “Lei”, “lui”, “lei”, “noi”, “voi”, “Loro”, “loro”) are optional in Italian. They are frequently omitted because the ending of the verb or the verb form (conjugation) tells you which person it is referring to.

LESSON 38 – LEZIONE 38
THE VERB “AVERE” (TO HAVE) (present tense) – IL VERBO “AVERE” (presente indicativo)

You speak too quickly for me. (plural) . . . . . Voi parlate troppo rapidamente per me.
Please speak slowly. (polite) . . . . . Per favore, parli lentamente.

In Italian there are three forms of regular verbs. These regular verbs have either “are”, “ere”, or “ire” endings in the infinitive form. (The infinitive is the form marked by “to” in English such as: to go; to look; to run; to buy; to sell; etc.) To conjugate regular verbs with “are” endings in the present tense, simply drop the “are” and attach the appropriate ending as shown above and below. Endings depend on the subject noun and are as follows:

Subject	Ending
io	parl(o)
tu	parl(i)
lui, lei, Lei	parl(a)
noi	parl(iamo)
voi	parl(ate)
loro, Loro	parl(ano)

Irregular verbs follow different spelling rules and must be learned individually. As you can see from these examples, “I am speaking.” and “I speak.” can both be translated to “Io parlo.” Italian also uses a more complex form called the present progressive tense to express action happening now. For example, “I am speaking now.” can be translated as “Io sto parlando ora.” This more complex form uses appropriate conjugation of the verb “stare” (“to stay” or “to be”) plus the gerund of the main verb. Using the present tense (present indicative) as shown in the examples in this lesson does not express “action happening now” as precisely, but it will work fine in most situations.

LESSON 40 – LEZIONE 40
TYPICAL REGULAR VERB WITH “ERE” ENDING (present tense) – VERBI REGOLARI IN “ERE” (presente indicativo)

to sell	vendere
I sell newspapers. / I am selling newspapers.	Io vendo giornali.
You sell magazines. / You are selling magazines. (familiar)	Tu vendi riviste.
You sell magazines. (polite)	Lei vende riviste.
You are selling your car. (familiar)	Vendi la tua macchina.
He sells meat.	Lui vende carne.
She sells vegetables.	Lei vende verdura.
We are selling our tickets.	Noi vendiamo i nostri biglietti.
You sell traveler’s checks. (plural)	Voi vendete traveler’s chèques.
They sell nice things.	Loro vendono cose belle.
That store sells water.	Quel negozio vende acqua.
All the banks sell traveler’s checks.	Tutte le banche vendono traveler’s chèques.
We sell chicken.	Vendiamo pollo.

They sell clothes for women. . . . . Vendono vestiti per donne.
You sell fish. (familiar) . . . . . Vendi pesce.
We sell fruit. . . . . Vendiamo frutta.

To conjugate regular verbs with “ere” endings in the present tense, simply drop the “ere” and attach the appropriate ending as shown above and below. Endings depend on the subject noun and are as follows:

Subject	Ending
io	vend(o)
tu	vend(i)
lui, lei, Lei	vend(e)
noi	vend(iamo)
voi	vend(ete)
loro, Loro	vend(ono)

As you can see from these examples, “I am selling.” and “I sell.” can both be translated to “Io vendo.” Italian also uses a more complex form called the present progressive tense to express action happening now. For example, “I am selling.” can be translated as “Io sto vendendo.” This more complex form uses appropriate conjugation of the verb “stare” (“to stay” or “to be”) plus the gerund of the main verb. Using the present tense (present indicative) as shown in the examples in this lesson does not express “action happening now” as precisely, but it will work fine in most situations.
